Arkansas is not a Prohibition State. The vote on the license question at the late election was: For license, 78,888; against license, 45,041. Only 12 counties voted against it, while 62 went the other way.

The St. Louis Fair this year was a much bigger thing than any of its predecessors. How does the Post-Dispatch reconcile this fact with its assaults on President Green as an Exposition wrecker?

Alex. H. Stephens' majority for Governor of Georgia is 60,000, as far as heard from, "and still a rise." So much for the independent movement in that State. It is snowed under so deeply that the names of its candidates are lost forever.

The Republicans of the Fourteenth District will hold a convention at Poplar Bluff on the 17th inst., "then and there to elect a Congressional Executive Committee and nominate a suitable candidate for Congress." The call is made by Alex. Ross and Jas. H. Chase, "Members State Republican Committee Fourteenth District." This is a sidewise at the aspirations of old Sol. Kitched.

Frank James surrendered himself to Gov. Crittenden last Thursday, upon a guaranty that his case should be tried before the courts. He was sent next day to Independence, where an indictment is pending against him, and he is now in jail awaiting the session of the Circuit Court. This removes the last vestige of train-robbers that so long infested this and other Western States. Gov. Crittenden and other authorities are entitled to the thanks and will receive the congratulations of all law-abiding citizens for their maintenance of the dignity of the law and the destruction of the celebrated robber band. But the Post-Dispatch and the Globe-Bulletin are out of humor and pallid with vexation that the Governor has done so well.

Butler county Democrats held a primary election last Saturday week, and chose the following ticket: For Representative, Jas. F. Tubbs; Collector, Chas. W. Addy; Sheriff, J. H. Cook; Circuit Clerk, Thos. D. Ferguson; County Clerk, Dick Metcalfe; Probate Judge, J. N. Pierce; Presiding Justice, J. N. Pierce; Associate Justices, A. S. Armstrong and Ewikel Miller; Treasurer, W. B. Adams; Prosecuting Attorney, G. A. Standard; Assessor, Carroll Epps; Coroner, J. R. Higdon. We are not acquainted with all the gentlemen on the ticket, but so far as we do know them, they are as good as could have been chosen, and we trust every one of them may be elected in November, as they are sure to be if the Democracy of Butler do their whole duty.

By the way, how is it that, in its editorial, commendatory of the candidates, the Citizen has a good word to say for every man on the ticket, excepting J. H. Cook, the nominee for Sheriff? Is his character such that the Citizen cannot support him, notwithstanding he was chosen by the Democracy by a vote twice as great as that of one of his competitors, and over one hundred greater than that of the other? We believe in Democratic papers giving undivided support to Democratic tickets. Can it be possible that there is an entangling alliance with Mr. Cook's prospective Republican opponent?

A man was killed in New York last week while repairing the wires of the Brush Electric Light Company. No one seems to be aware of the exact manner in which the accident occurred, but it is conjectured that his foot slipped, and throwing out his hand to save himself he grasped the opposite or returning wire, thus making what is known as a "short circuit," and the electricity passing through his body, killed him almost instantly. The flesh upon the palms of his hands hung in shreds, and his features were contracted in an expression of agony. The body was removed to a police station almost opposite the accident, and a doctor summoned, but the man was dead.

A prominent electrician, commenting upon the affair, and the danger of handling uninsulated wire, said: "Electricity, as generated in this system, might be used with frightful effect as a defensive measure in time of war. Suppose I had in a fort a steam fire engine, with a hose that would throw a stream of water a quarter of an inch in diameter 300 feet. Now, if I had one end of a Brush machine grounded and the other end connected with the water passing through the hose, the very instant the stream of water struck a line of troops that were advancing to attack the fort it would kill them. The stream would then be really a flexible electric wire, and as it swept along the line of men it would mow them down like grass. If a thousand men were to march up in a solid body, they could all be killed in ten seconds. It would be absolutely impossible to take the fort. It could be used with equally terrible effect in naval warfare. As soon as you make war so destructive as that, however, civilization will do away with it."

History Repeating Itself.

The Democratic party twenty-two years ago went out of power by its own folly. That folly took the shape of internal division. That folly alone preserved and continued Republican supremacy for many years. But folly, like fashion, changes. The Republicans have at last come to the very pass of criminal blundering and quarreling by which Democratic power was lost in 1860.

In New York, the first State of the Union, we see an open rebellion of the powerful wing of the party against its own ticket. Nearly every Republican organ refuses to support Folger. Thousands of Garfield or Half-Breed Republicans avow their intention to defeat him. Tens of thousands more are so disgusted that they will not go to the polls on election day. The defeat of the Republican ticket is a foregone conclusion. The most remarkable feature of this conclusion is that the overwhelming triumph of Democracy is cordially desired, and will be brought about by divided and disgusted Republicans.

In Pennsylvania we see a spectacle equally striking. Two Republican tickets are in the field. The battle is waged not so much between Democracy and Republicanism as between two different Republican factions. Each of these Republican factions would infinitely prefer the triumph of the Democratic ticket to the election of the rival Republican candidates. Here, too, Democratic victory is almost assured by Republican folly and dissension.

In Ohio we see Republican legislation and agitation which will drive, or has already actually driven, a conspicuous and faithful faction of the party into the ranks of Democracy. In Ohio the temperance agitation, and consequent loss of the German vote, will probably accomplish the same result that opposition to Camerounism will accomplish in Pennsylvania and antagonism to Arthur and the Federal Administration will bring about in New York. In Ohio, too, Democratic victory will be due to Republican stupidity and dissension.

In Washington we see such stupendous political blunders, nay, crimes, as the extravagance of a Republican Congress under the leadership of corruptionists like Robeson and Bill Chandler; the robbery of the public treasury under the guise of Navy and River and Harbor bills; the shameless blackmailing of all public officials, regardless of sex, age, color or condition, for an enormous corruption fund to buy elections; the wholesale plundering of the Post Office Department, as shown by the theft of millions of dollars through the Star Route Ring; the disgraceful failure of justice in the full effort to bring thieves to punishment; the retention of the head and front of this ring as Secretary of the Republican National Committee; the alliance of the Federal Administration with the Republicanists in Virginia; the open sympathy of the party in power with monopolies, corporations, and organized privileges; the elevation of venal mediocrities, like Keifer and Miller, into high places once held by Blaine and Conkling; the retirement of the ablest leaders, like Grant, Blaine and Conkling, to private life; the prostitution of the Supreme Bench by men like Wood, Bradley and Stanley Matthews, the tool of Jay Gould. Last but not least we see the end of a Republican quarrel in the "removal" of one President and the making of another by Republican assassination.

In our own State, we see the Republican party, already in a hopeless minority, frantically cutting itself into still smaller pieces, and surrendering not only the State and Congressional districts, but even the important municipal offices in this city and many of the county governments, to the rampant bunnymen of the Bourbon Democracy.

Nothing but a miracle can prevent an overwhelming Republican defeat this year. But miracles do not happen in this country. A Democratic Governor in New York and Pennsylvania, a clean Democratic victory in Ohio, and the election of another Democratic House of Representatives, are therefore among the probabilities of this year.

We submit whether it is not time to change the fashion and speak about Republican stupidity. It would seem that in this year, at least, the Republicans are singularly fortunate in producing the largest possible amount of imbecility with the least possible brains, all along the line, from New York to Missouri.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch (Independent).
